

LIFE SENTENCE FOR GARFIELD BOHALL

Jury Returns Verdict That Defendant is Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree.

GREAT INTEREST IN CASE

Final Instruction Given to Jurymen About Three O'Clock Friday Afternoon.

The jurymen in the Garfield Bohall murder case reached a conclusion this morning and about nine o'clock filed their verdict, finding the defendant guilty of murder in the second degree and fixing his penalty at life imprisonment. The jury was given final instructions about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and entered the jury room shortly afterwards. They continued their deliberations during the evening and throughout the night and did not return to the court room until they were ready to report the result of their findings.

There was much interest shown in the verdict, and many persons remained in the court room until late Friday evening hoping that the jury would reach an early conclusion, and report before morning. Many telephone calls were sent inquiring about the verdict. It is not known how the jury stood as none of the jurymen would talk about the matter after they were discharged by the judge.

When the jury failed to report late Friday night and were still out early this morning, many who were interested in the case, were inclined to believe that they were unable to reach an agreement and that they would ask the judge for further instructions. No additional instructions were asked for, however, after the jury left the court room.

Garfield Bohall, the defendant, is about twenty-nine years of age. He shot his brother, Thornton, last November while engaged in a little dispute over a trivial matter. His brothers Thornton and Joseph, were quarreling, and at the request of his mother, Garfield attempted to separate them. He carried a revolver with him and in some manner it was discharged, the bullet striking Thornton above the left eye. The defendant declared on trial that the shooting was accidental, and that he was cleaning the pistol when called by his mother, and carried it with him, but not for the purpose of using it.

On the last trial the state's attorney referred frequently to the testimony of witnesses which was given on the former trial; it was shown that Joseph, a brother of the defendant, was standing with his back to Garfield when the shooting occurred, and that he did not see the shot fired. On the second trial the same witnesses testified that Joseph was standing facing Garfield and that he was pushed by someone and fell against Garfield and at that instant the pistol was discharged.

It is said that the attorneys for Bohall will file a motion for exceptions and that the case will be carried to the supreme court. Thus far, however, no action has been taken by the defendant or his attorneys.

MARRIED. TRIMPE-LOESCHER

A pretty home wedding took place Wednesday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Trimpe at Waymansville, the bride being their daughter, Miss Emily Trimpe, and the groom, Mr. Henry Loescher of Cleveland, O.

The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. G. Baumgardt in the presence of a large assemblage of guests, the parlor being used for the wedding. The bride chose for her attendant, Miss Mary Igel, of Humboldt, Kan., and the best man was Walter Loescher, also of Cleveland. During the wedding hour, Miss Bertha Tobrooke played a program of wedding music which was changed to a procession for the ceremony. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the event, fall flowers and greenery being garlanded in every conceivable place.

The bride was charming in a handsome white messeline gown. Her bride's maid wore a becoming gown of Persian lawn.

Following the ceremony an elegant wedding dinner was served. The dining room was appropriately decorated, flowers predominating in the appointments. Mr. and Mrs. Loescher left Wednesday afternoon for their new home in Cleveland.

The bride is a lovely and highly esteemed young woman, and has a large circle of friends. Mr. Loescher is an estimable man and a member of the Cleveland police force.—Columbus Herald.

LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED

At Republican Meeting at the Majestic Theatre Next Monday Evening.

EXCELLENT SPEECH ASSURED

Hon. W. L. Taylor is One of the Leading and Most Popular Orators in Indiana.

The Republicans of Seymour and Jackson county are expected to join in making the meeting at the Majestic theatre Monday night, October 17, a big success. It is the opening of the Republican party's speaking campaign in this county and the fact that Hon. W. L. Taylor has been secured for the speech of the evening, furnishes assurance that the issues of the campaign will be fairly and entertainingly presented. Though this is an off year, the people are deeply interested in national as well as local issues and Republican meetings held in neighboring counties have been largely attended. Mr. Taylor is widely known in Indiana and is a very popular campaign orator. In his early life he was a railroad engineer and it is expected that many local railroad employees will be out to hear him Monday night. The speaking will begin at 7:30. Make arrangements to attend.

HAS REQUISITION PAPERS.

Attorney Applewhite on the Way to Oklahoma City.

Attorney R. B. Applewhite, of Brownstown, left Indianapolis at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon for Oklahoma City with the requisition papers for Hugh Burrell. He expected to be joined at Kansas City by a former chief of police of Indianapolis, who will accompany him west and help bring Burrell back to Indiana if the requisition is honored by Governor Haskell. W. H. Watton, who made the capture of the ex-banker, will also accompany the party on the return trip. There has been considerable speculation here as to whether the habeas corpus proceedings instituted to secure Burrell's release will come up in the court of Judge A. N. Menden, who formerly lived in Seymour but is now on the Superior court bench in Oklahoma City.

In Tuesday's Republican in the account of the Burrell affair, the initials of W. R. Bolles were given as W. H. and Charles Dollman was mentioned as active in raising the reward money. It should have been George Zollman.

W. R. Bolles and Charles Bolles have been tireless in their efforts to effect the capture of Burrell, not only because they were heavy losers, but they have felt that for the credit of the community the perpetrator of such a crime as the wrecking of the bank, should not be allowed to go unpunished.

Celebrates Birthday.

Dr. L. M. Mains, Sr., is receiving the congratulations of his friends today upon reaching his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary. He says he is feeling as strong as he ever did, and would enjoy a good fishing trip today. Dr. Mains served four years in the civil war, having enlisted in the Eleventh Indiana Regiment, of which Lew Wallace was commander. He has resided in Seymour for many years, and served as postmaster for two terms.

PLANS TO ESCAPE OFFICERS FAILED

Charles Mitchell Jumped on Moving Freight Train While On Way To Jail.

ARRESTED AT BROWNSTOWN

Is Charged With Assault With Intent and Will be Tried Tuesday Morning.

Charlie Mitchell, the young man who served as a target for Marion Steele in the shooting affray Friday afternoon, added another chapter to his police record shortly after the trouble when he attempted to resist arrest by Marshal J. T. Abell. Soon after the shooting Mitchell left Steele's soft drink place, but was located in the third ward, and when he was informed that it would be necessary for him to go to jail, he objected vigorously and started a little Jim Jeffries stunt. After a few short rounds, however, Mitchell was counted out and agreed to go to the police station. Ed Hodapp, who was standing nearby when the fist encounter occurred, was deputized and accompanied the Marshal when he started for the police station.

When Mitchell realized that his fighting was in vain he told the officers that he did not want to walk by them, and promised to cause no further disturbance if permitted to walk along a short distance in front of them. The policemen agreed to this and followed him closely and all was well until they reached the corner of the Jonas Hotel. Here Mitchell saw a fast freight on the B. & O. S.W. leaving the city and decided to evade the officers by jumping on the train. He sprang towards the train so suddenly that the policemen had no time to catch him and he was soon on his way westward.

By this time Abell was more determined than ever to arrest his man, and a telephone message was sent to Sheriff McOsker to take Mitchell off the train. The sheriff hastened to the depot and had little trouble in finding Mitchell, who had visited the county jail frequently, and locked him up in the Brownstown jail.

Mitchell was returned to Seymour this morning by Sheriff McOsker and was arraigned upon the charge of assault with intent. His trial was set for Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The witnesses in the case were instructed to be present at that time.

Steele explains the shooting affray in a much different way from Mitchell. He said that Mitchell came into his place and asked for several bottles of beer, which were given him and when he requested pay for them, Mitchell insulted him and began throwing bottles at him. He claims that Mitchell came into his place for the purpose of causing trouble and stated that he was going to kill him. Steele said he used the gun to defend himself, and that he snapped the hammer several times before the cartridge was discharged. He was placed under a bond of $100 and will be tried later.

The shot was fired at Mitchell after he left the building. Mitchell and Steele were both intoxicated at the time the trouble occurred.

Steele's place has had a reputation for disorder for some time and recently many disturbances have been reported. He purchased the place several months ago, having come here from Lexington, Ky.

QUARANTINES LIFTED.

No Cases of Diphtheria Now Reported in Seymour.

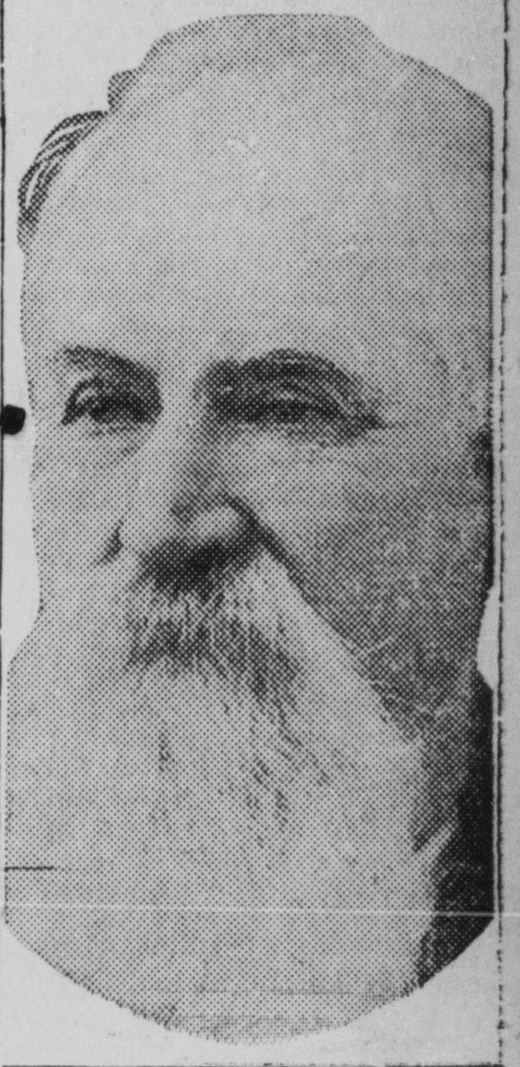

Dr. James H. Carter, secretary of the city health board, reports that all the diphtheria cases in the city have recovered and the quarantines have been raised. At one time there were eighteen cases, most of them in the west part of the city. Nearly all the cases, however, were very light, and with a few exceptions, none of the patients were regarded as being in a serious condition.

For a time many children were not allowed to attend school, their parents fearing that they might contract the disease, but now that the cases have all recovered the school authorities urge that all the children be placed in school at once. Every precaution was taken by the trustees and superintendent to prevent an epidemic, and the rooms in the various school buildings were treated with disinfectants every few days.

The health board is still watchful and will enforce a strict quarantine should any new cases develop which is not expected.

Miss Edith Andrews spent the day in Indianapolis.

Dr. J. W. Fuller, of California.

Pe-ru-na the Remedy.

Dr. J. W. FULLER, Scientific Optician, 203 North Main St., Los Angeles, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with catarrh of the head for many years. It affected my sense of smell, hearing and sight."

"I spent lots of money with doctors and the use of local applications to relieve me, but to no purpose until my attention was called to the wonderful effects of Peruna."

"I must say that I met with most surprising and satisfactory results. Peruna took hold of the complaint and drove it entirely out of my system."

"Although well along toward the allotted span of man's life, I am as pleased as a child over the results, and feel like a young man again."

THE STRANGE STORY SIN.

Text, "Sin is the transgression of the law."—I John iii, 4.

One thing requires no argument—sin is here. It doesn't take much proof to show that the poor bulk in the surf with snapped masts, torn rigging, gaping holes in the side, is a wreck. The bodies washed ashore bear mute evidence that something has happened. The revelations of the police court, the moan of the prisoner, the quivering form in the electric chair, the poor scarlet girl of the street, the ghastly contents of the morgue, show a wreck somewhere. Let him who will deny it. The Bible proceeds from Genesis to Revelation with that assumption. If sin isn't a real thing, a veritable cancer eating at the vitals of humanity, then the Bible has no meaning and is a book of fables. The gospel then becomes the queerest hallucination that ever deluded this race of mortals, and the crucifixion was a suicide—nay, a fearful burlesque. Indeed, civilization begins its calculations with sin as a principal integer. They are cutting prison stone now for boys not yet born. Horrible to contemplate, the hemp is growing to make the noose for the little fellow now nursing at his mother's breast. Is sin inherent or part of our growth? Have we fallen from "a little lower than the angels," or have we risen from "a little higher than the brute?" The Bible says the former, science the latter. The good book gives only a few verses to the fall, but whole chapters to the fallen. That seems sensible. The important thing is not, Did a storm strike the vessel? but What can be done for the passengers?

Sin Is Suffering.

Sin is life's deepest malady. Not the "white plague" nor pneumonia nor cancer has the most victims, but sin. The devilish part is that that wasn't the bargain. Beginning bright as the morn, it ends dark as the midnight. Sin promised life pleasure and profit, but we find its wages are death, torment and destruction, with the epitaph "Thou fool." We think of sin as adultery, uncleanness, murder, drunkenness—things that belong down in the slums, and that mustn't be mentioned except with a quick look around and a guarded tone. Christ began his list with evil thoughts and from that worked out toward the surface. And now comes modern psycho-therapeutics and tells us that sin can be, outwardly, a mighty respectable thing, but that it is fruitful of disorders to our brain centers, hinders our mental processes, produces vapors and miasmas of the soul, and that these make directly for impaired health, dyspepsia, rheumatism and a great host of nerve troubles; that sin has a tremendous effect on the excretory organs and marked chemical effect on saliva and the gastric juices. That is only the start—the sin in the thought. The end of sin committed is like your shadow toward evening—monstrous in its growth. And, like the stone thrown in the water, one circle produces another. When hatred was in Cain's heart murder wasn't far off. David found the seventh commandment lay next to the sixth.

Sin Is Solitude.

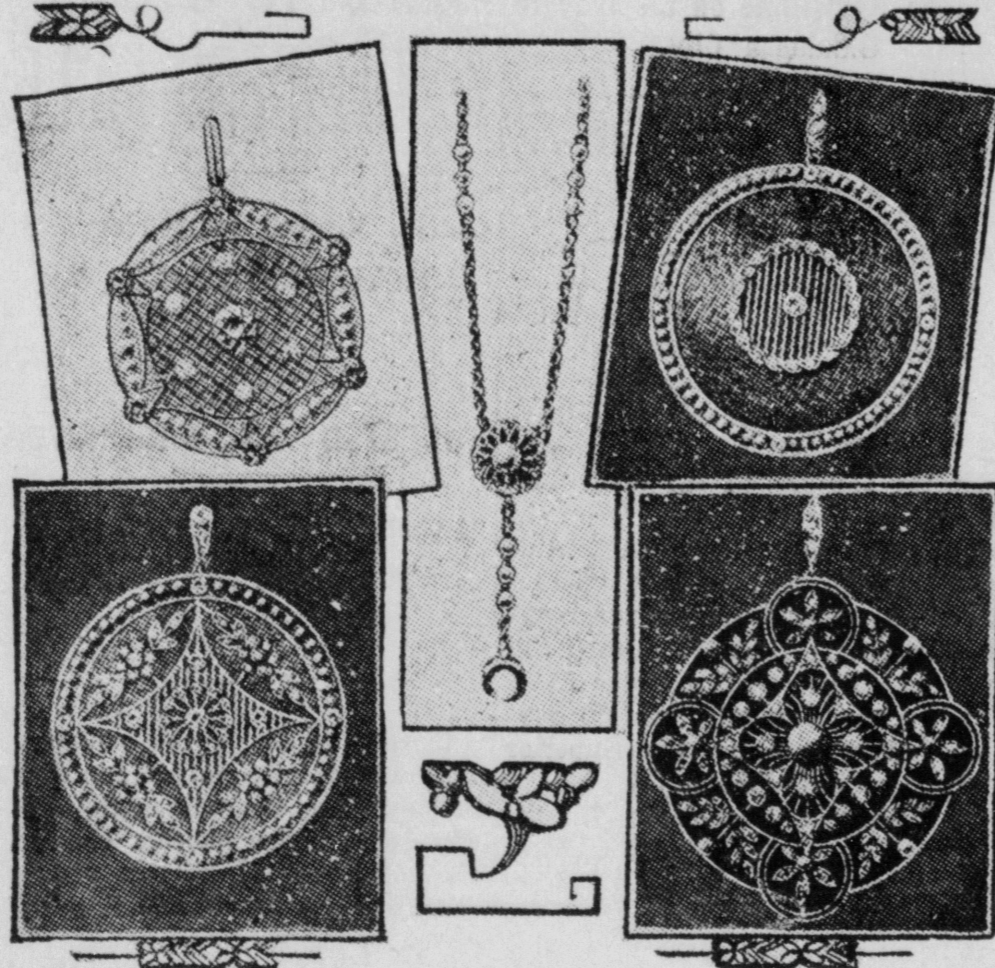

That is, it shuts out. That's a queer thing. Most sin requires companionship, but once you've sinned you stand alone. A young fellow told me in the Tombs one day that his first feeling in the cell was one of fearful loneliness, utter friendlessness. When you tell a lie you are separated from truth and those that want the truth. When you commit adultery fear of exposure shuts you away from the clean. When Cain's mark is on your soul every man's hand is against you. Cattle go in herds, sheep in droves, birds in flocks, bees in swarms. The instinct of humanity craves companionship. But you are alone. That is fearful. Prisoners sentenced to solitary confinement go mad, and Matthew spells hell. We read of Judas that after supper he went out and it was night. He went out. Out—note! Inside were light and warmth and gladness and fellowship, the best on earth. There's a stroke of genius in the writer's pen. "It was night." No push, no curse, drove him out—just the momentum of sin. His bed that night was in hell. So, too, Peter went out from the court, having lied and sworn that he didn't know his Lord. He went out into the darkness and wept bitterly. When your father's door is shut upon you, when friends cross to the other side of the street, when there's no door open save the trapdoor of perdition, then it's night—the blackest night of your soul's eclipse. Sin is solitude—it shuts out. The saddest words that ever fell from Christ's lips are, "Depart from me." Departure into the blackness of darkness forever. The iron curtain of eternity drops.

Sin Is Suicide.

"Consequences are unplying," Elliot said. The consequence of sin is soul death. "The wages of sin is death." Sin is a trail of powder we lay from our house to the train track where the sparks fall. The sinner is the acrobat standing on his head at Glacier point, in the Yosemite, or the boatman fooling around Buckhorn island, in the rapids above Niagara. The wages are sure. Pay day comes early. Indeed, some are so anxious to give the devil his due that they pay him in advance. It isn't throwing dice. There's no chance—no gambler's luck. But "the gift of God is eternal life."

PENDANTS AND CHAIN SEEN IN SMART JEWELRY SHOPS

WITH the coming of cooler weather comes also renewed interest in the things that help to adorn women when they display their charms in evening gowns under the artificial lights. Nothing, of course, is so effective as jewelry carefully chosen with an eye for beauty and taste. The specimens shown are pendants in new designs, such as are all the rage now in Paris, London, New York and other centers of fashion. They are the products of foreign skill in designing and exquisite workmanship. The lower pendant on the right side is made up of diamonds, pearls and gray enamel, the whole forming a dainty ornament for millady's corsage. The one immediately above it holds diamonds, pearls and aquamarines. In the center is a diamond and pearl chain set in platinum twenty-six inches long. On the left are two perfectly beautiful diamond, pearl and platinum pendants. All of these designs have met with favor on the other side, and they or similar designs are shown in the best jewelry shops in the large American cities.

SOME LITTLE RECIPES OF TESTED WORTH.

Peppermint Creams.—One small can of condensed milk, two pounds of icing sugar and two teaspoonfuls of essence of peppermint. Mix altogether, roll out and cut into any shape. Leave them on a board to dry, turning them until quite hard.

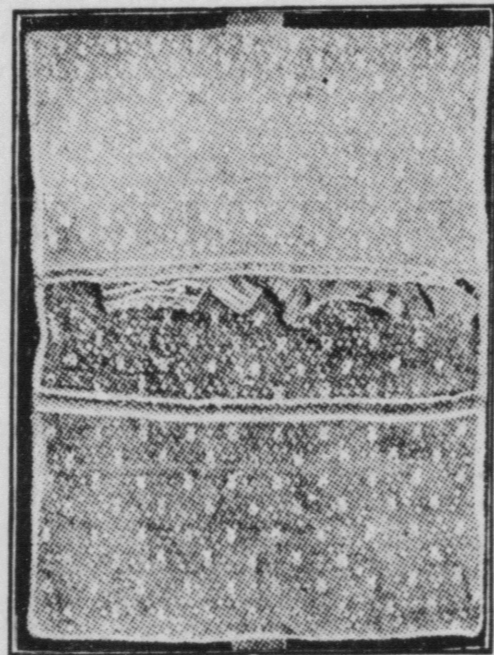

Cold Meat Dish.—Place in a pie dish alternate layers of cold meat sliced thin, tomatoes cut thin and potatoes cut into rings, having the top layer of potatoes. Between each layer sprinkle a little seasoning and also a little flour; then fill up the dish with stock and bake until the potatoes are tender.

Brown Meal Biscuits.—One pound of white flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder, a teaspoonful of brown sugar and a pinch of salt. Mix thoroughly into this five ounces of butter. Make all into a stiff paste with a little milk. Roll out very thin and bake in rather a quick oven.

Rich Fruit Cake Without Eggs.—One pound of flour, one-half pound of sugar, one-fourth pound of currants, one-half pound of raisins, one ounce of lemon peel, one-half ounce of carbonate of soda, six ounces of lard or butter, half a gill of milk, a pinch of salt and one wineglassful of brown vinegar, to be added last.

able. The bag is so simple that it can be run together in a very short time by any woman with even a little skill with the needle.

The material of the bag shown is figured muslin, but dotted muslin or lawn or silk may be employed to good effect. A yard and a half of muslin is required to make a case large enough to hold six blouses.

HERE'S A SCHOOL FOR TEACHING WIVES

THERE is a man of my acquaintance—and he thinks himself a fairly intelligent and well informed man, too—who was greatly astonished when his wife told him, shortly after their marriage, that she did not know how to sew. "Why," he said, "I thought all women knew how to sew naturally." And he was offended when his wife laughed at the idea that sewing is a natural gift with all women. And so it is with other branches of work generally held to be comprised in women's sphere. They do not come naturally to all women, and some of them are not easily learned by any women. To remedy the defects in the housewifely education of wives and women about to enter the matrimonial state a "school for wives" has been established in London. In it the scholars are taught everything that is likely to be useful to them in their wedded lives, such as cooking, sewing, the purchasing of supplies, laundering, etc. Nothing is neglected in the school's curriculum. The pupils are even taught how to stain floors, as is seen in the accompanying illustration. It is believed that many a Londoner will have cause to bless the happy inspiration which led his wife to the school, since the results of the instruction given there are bound to be seen in decreased household bills. The school will no doubt be imitated elsewhere.

It does not matter very much just how the platform tries to please. Nor yet the words the candidate in torrents tosses on the breeze. The only thing you want to know To make the matter wholly plain Is what philanthropist or trust Finances largely the campaign.

Words that are hot enough to burn Are often in the platform writ. And, swearing he will swear by them, The candidate may throw a fit. But when it comes to living up To promises so loud and strong It all depends on how it will Assist the paying ones along.

ELECTRICIANS JOIN PARISIAN STRIKERS

Pataud Once More Shows
His Hand.

Paris, Oct. 14.—At 12:30 this morning a bomb exploded in front of No. 6 Rue Berri. The noise aroused the surrounding district, which is one of the most fashionable in Paris. The fine doors of the house were damaged, the inner doors shattered and the windows blown to pieces. The houses on each side and in front also suffered. Nobody was injured. The reason this particular house was attacked is unknown. Judge Dreyfus is one of the occupants of the house, and ex-Chief Detective Coron lives next door.

At 7 o'clock last night the electric lights in the Clichy section were put out. The putting out of the lights is presumably due to a strike in sympathy with the railroad men. Premier Briand, commenting on the electricians' act, emphasized the revolutionary character of the strike. It is believed that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of the notorious Pataud, secretary of the electricians' union, who is credited with the responsibility for the extinguishment of the lights.

As dusk fell the lights in the ministry of the interior and the palace of the Elysee went out. An attempt was made to inform Prefect of Police Lepine, but it failed, and then it was found that the telephone wires had been cut. The electric strike was only partially complete. The Champs Elysees was plunged into darkness, and the left bank of the Seine suffered severely, for in addition to losing its light the electric cars were stopped by the cutting off of their power. The cafes had recourse to Chinese lanterns and candles stuck in bottles. The theaters were practically put out of business.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

BIG FEE COMING TO AN UNKNOWN

Whoever Tipped off Duveen Bros.' Case Outdid Parr.

LOEB EXPECTS HUGE RECOVERY

It is Hinted That Long Continued Alleged Undervaluations of Art Importations May Exceed in Amount of Money Withheld From Government the Sums Recovered From the American Sugar Refining Company.

New York, Oct. 15.—If Collector Loeb's guess is correct as to the amount that Uncle Sam was defrauded through the alleged undervaluations of importations made by Duveen Bros., Fifth avenue art dealers, whose offices were raided on Thursday, the person who wrote the anonymous letter which started the collector on the trail may be in a position to claim a larger reward than Richard Parr received for uncovering the sugar trust frauds. Mr. Loeb said that while the investigation is still only in its infancy, the sum involved will probably exceed by a vast amount the sum involved in the recoveries from the sugar company. Through Parr's efforts the government recovered $2,135,480.53 from the American Sugar Refining company alone, and Parr was awarded $100,000 for his work. It follows that if the collector's guess is right the undervaluations charged to the Duveens will greatly exceed $1,000,000, which was the top figure mentioned when Benjamin J. Duveen and Henry J. Duveen were arraigned before Commissioner Shields after arrest.

Counsel for the Duveens said that since all the members of Duveen Bros. are British subjects, their government might take a hand in case they were shown to have been unjustly treated. Benjamin Duveen said that within a few days the firm would explain the case fully and that everything would be "cleared up."

RAILWAY SMASHUPS

Four Hungarians Killed in One Wreck, a Fireman in Another.

Greenfield, Ind., Oct. 15.—Fireman Pickering of Columbus, O., was killed and fourteen on the train crew were injured when the westbound fast mail on the Pennsylvania railroad, known as No. 18 and running between New York and St. Louis, was piled up in ruins. The train, running at great speed, dashed into an open switch at a little station called the C. U. cabin, near Cleveland, four miles east of Greenfield.

There was great destruction of property and traffic was blocked for eight hours.

Engines Were Telescoped.

Portland, Ind., Oct. 15.—A head-on collision, caused by a dense fog, occurred on the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad when a northbound freight train, heavily loaded, plowed through a southbound work train two miles south of Collet, killing four Hungarians, injuring one so badly that he will die and seriously wounding fifteen or twenty other workmen. The engines were telescoped.

MAY DROP "PROTESTANT"

Episcopal Church to Vote Today on Proposition to Change Name.

Cincinnati, Oct. 15.—The question of changing the name of the church by dropping the word "Protestant" is the subject of debate at the general Episcopal convention and will be decided by vote today. The problem of what the church is to do with the foreign-born population of the United States was brought up and a commission was appointed to study the question of the church's duty to this element. The subject of a ritual for the healing of the sick by prayer will not be settled at this convention. The deputies refused to reopen the discussion.

QUIETING DOWN

French Railways Are Gradually Being Reopened For Traffic.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The railway condition continues to improve, on the Northern railway especially, where many of the engine-drivers are resuming work. The St. Lazaire and Invalides stations have reopened.

The cabinet has decided that the strikers must formulate their demands precisely, and the government will then transmit them to the companies. The police are of the opinion that the explosion of bombs was the work of jokers, or was connected with the anniversary of Ferrer's execution.

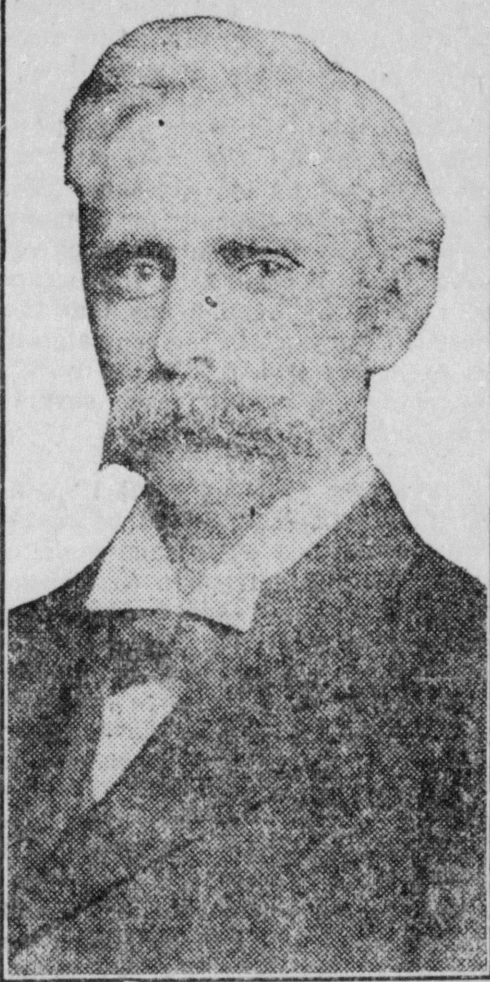

Summer Capital Dismantled.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 15.—Mr. Taft will leave Monday for New York, where he will remain until Wednesday night, when he will return to Washington for the fall and winter. Secretary Norton has left Beverly for Chicago, where he will register, and the executive offices were dismantled today.

Twenty-three lives were lost in a collision between French coasting steamers off the port of St. Nazaire.

WORLD-WIDE STEEL COMBINE HINTED AT

Significant Meeting Is Being Held In New York.

New York, Oct. 15.—Ironmakers from many parts of the world are rubbing shoulders at the first general meeting of the American Iron and Steel institute. No such gathering of steel makers has ever taken place before in this country, and from it results may flow which will revolutionize that gigantic industry in some of its important branches.

The American Iron and Steel institute is a new departure, inasmuch as its aim is to deal not only with the technical part of the industry, but to take in its commercial side as well and hence invade the domain of prices so important to the world at large, and is thus the most important step yet taken toward securing a world-wide co-operation among the makers of steel and iron for mutual protection in the markets of the world in the matter of production and prices.

Prominent among those who have been trying to bring it about has been Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, but associated with him in these efforts have been representatives of many of the so-called independents and the foreign steel makers.

All told there are thirty-eight foreign steel makers present, and to mention them would be to mention representatives of practically all of the big foreign steel works. Stability of prices was perhaps the most important topic discussed. Some of the men advanced the idea that the time had come when steel makers should adopt a common policy in seeking to maintain fair prices, even to the extent of curtailing production if this should be necessary.

Former Judge Electrocuted.

Defiance, O., Oct. 15.—Former Probate Judge John H. Hockman was electrocuted while turning on an electric light in his bathroom. Burns on his fingers and the fact that a neighbor on the same line was shocked about the same time, make the electrocution theory proposed by the family and physician exceedingly plausible.

Warren C. Purdy, former president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, is dead at Chicago.

MR. BRYAN GIVES HOOSIERS A TIP

Urges the Election of His Old Friend Kern.

RETAINS HIS OLD TIME CHARM

In His Campaign on Behalf of the Candidacy of His Recent "Running Mate," Mr. Bryan Uses All the Force and Eloquence at His Command, His Utterances Being Received With as Much Enthusiasm as Ever.

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 15.—In this town, the home of Governor Thomas R. Marshall, William Jennings Bryan was last night greeted by one of the largest campaign crowds ever gathered in this part of the state, and his address was received with all the old time enthusiasm that has ever marked the utterances of the "peerless leader" in Indiana. Mr. Bryan is to make a comprehensive campaign tour of Indiana in behalf of his 1908 "running mate," John W. Kern, nominee of the Hoosier Democracy for United States senator.

Just after Roosevelt had completed his tour of the state for Beveridge, Bryan began his campaign for Kern, speaking before a large crowd which gathered yesterday at Auburn from all parts of the Twelfth district to hear him, and he seemed as great a favorite with the Democrats as ever. He made a strong plea for Kern and scored the tariff bill and what he termed inconsistency on the part of the Republican speakers in advocating the election of men such as Beveridge when a man like Kern would give the people relief from the trusts and the tariff as well.

When Bryan was the nominee for president the last time John W. Kern was on the ticket with him as a candidate for vice president, and the two have campaigned together for many years. The only issue in the Indiana campaign, as Bryan sees it, is the selection of Kern for United States senator. The people appear to be as eager to see and hear Mr. Bryan as they ever were. Though his strongest lies are in support of Mr. Kern, he is discussing the tariff, pensions, laws for working men, and the election of United States senators by popular vote. He is just the same Bryan in his personality, clean handed, clean minded, as popular with the masses as ever.

Mr. Bryan announced that in his speeches he would try to show why the people of the state should support the Democratic ticket and elect Mr. Kern a senator of the United States.

AROUSED HIS WRATH

Governor Marshall Stirred by Brutal Incident at Dugger.

Dugger, Ind., Oct. 15.—When Governor Marshall spoke in this "blind tiger" town he was given an unexpected illustration of conditions that prevail here. A temperance man, John M. Bridges, stepped up to him and asked if he had the power to remove an officer who failed to do his duty, referring to failure to enforce the law against "blind tigers."

Governor Marshall did not have a chance to answer in full, for Fred Stein, an ex-saloon keeper, who was just behind him, shot out a big fist near the governor's head and hit Bridges a terrific blow which brought blood.

Angry at the outrage, Governor Marshall turned on Stein and said: "You are a bad man and a coward. I've a notion to whip you myself."

"Somebody arrest this man!" the governor shouted. W. Ray Collins, a Linton attorney, felt that the governor's order made him an officer for the moment. He placed Stein under arrest and dragged him off to the office of Justice Markland, where Stein pleaded guilty to assault and battery.

"This is a disgraceful outrage," said Governor Marshall. "I won't stand this kind of conduct. If they can't enforce the law down here against such brutes and punish them as they deserve, I will send the militia here and see that the peace shall be kept."

The governor did not wait to see how much the man was fined, but said "the fine should be a plenty."

Alleged Defaulter Captured.

Brownstown, Ind., Oct. 15.—A telegram has been received here to the effect that Hugh A. Burrell, defaulting president of the People's State bank, which failed here in August, 1907, has been captured and is now in jail at Oklahoma City, Okla. Captain R. B. Applewhite went to Indianapolis to obtain requisition papers from Governor Marshall.

Dan Reid Marries an Actress.

New York, Oct. 15.—Daniel G. Reid, organizer of the Tin Plate trust, many times a millionaire, has married the beautiful Miss Mabel Carrier, formerly an actress. Mr. and Mrs. Reid are spending their honeymoon in seclusion at the capitalist's country seat at Irvington.

Didn't See Vehicle.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 15.—William Stewart, an aged man, who was run over by a cab died from his injuries. He was heard of hearing and did not see the approaching cab.

Though Disappointing, It Has a Happy Result

The old Kimball house stood alone on the side of the hill. Around it the acres that one generation had cleared and two others had profitably tilled during the golden age of New England agriculture were growing up to birch and white pine. But the hilltop pasture still furnished grazing for Betsy, the aged Holstein, and Jael, the pot-bellied mare, sole survivors of the stock that once crowded the white-washed barn, while in the garden grew potatoes, corn, turnips, beets and the other hardy truck that wintered in a corner of the big cellar and enabled the Kimball "girls" to sit by their air-tight stove and watch with unconcern the storms that blocked the roads and sometimes shut them off from the store at the Center for days at a time.

Breakfast over and the dishes washed, the sisters went into the garden. Every pleasant day until the sun rose high and hot they worked there. Blue cotton gowns faded by constant washing covered their thin, bowed figures as they stooped over the onion bed or with the hand cultivator scratched the earth between the hills of beans and corn. Blue gingham sunbonnets protected their delicately wrinkled faces.

Miss Binley, seeing them for the first time, paused to study and admire. Against the background of yellow green cornstalks their bent figures stood out in harmonious relief. In the foreground the whitewashed fence, the prim flower beds and the old house with its rotting shingles and weather washed green blinds contributed a setting that appealed irresistibly to her artist soul.

For Miss Binley was an amateur photographer. She seldom walked abroad without her camera, but unfortunately this was one of the rare mornings when she had left her camera at home.

"Oh, Mr. Holbrook," cried the girl regretfully, "see those perfectly dear old women in that onion patch. What a genre study! I've often said it never was safe to go anywhere without a camera."

"I might run back and fetch it," suggested the carrier meekly.

"No," she replied reluctantly. "It's too far. Probably we can get them some other time. I'm going to speak to them."

Young Holbrook watched with adoring admiration the process by which the girl penetrated the barriers of New England reserve. Before the three women had conversed five minutes something of Miss Binley's own abundant youth and enthusiasm began to sparkle in the faded eyes of the sisters.

"Oh, Marthy, don't you wish we could have ours taken again? We haven't had our likenesses made since we were girls. Remember, Marthy, you were thutty and I was thutty-five. You were a mighty putty girl in those days, Marthy."

"Oh, g'long," commanded her younger sister.

"It used to be a terrible lot of trouble," continued Phoebe. "We had to sit puffily still for five minutes—couldn't stir, and it seemed like five hours."

"You wouldn't have to sit still at all now," said Miss Binley eagerly. "The process is instantaneous."

Eager assent was on the lips of Miss Phoebe, but her sterner sister forestalled her.

"That's very kind of you, miss, but we couldn't think of putting you to so much trouble."

Familiar with the fundamental characteristic of the older New England generation, Miss Binley advanced cautiously. Already in her artist mind she saw the print she would make—a marvelous study of two gaunt figures wringing an unwilling toll from the harsh mountain soil. It was the subject she had been looking for all summer to enter in the fall exhibit of her camera club at home. "Oh, it won't trouble me in the least," she replied guardedly. "If you knew how I love to take pictures you would understand. Would you be here in the garden at this time tomorrow?"

"Yes," answered Marthy, yielding. "But wouldn't you rather take us in the house. Do folks ever have their pictures taken outdoors?"

"The light is much better outside," explained Miss Binley. "And, besides, I wouldn't think of keeping you from your work. I'll come and take some snapshots of you just as you are—weeding the onions."

"You can come with me tomorrow," she said to Holbrook. "I had promised to drive with Johnny Larson, but all engagements are off in the face of an epoch making chance like this."

The next morning brought weather perfect alike for pedestrianism and photography. The day was cool, and a thin haze tempered the rays of the mountain sun. Miss Binley ran down the steps to meet him, radiant with anticipation, and as he received the big camera from her hands Holbrook thrilled with the thought of another morning at her side.

"There's some one in the garden," said the young man as the last turn in the road brought them in sight of their destination. "But they don't accord with my recollection of the old ladies. Holy smoke!" gasped the youth. "It's they, all right, but no wonder we didn't recognize them."

Miss Binley gazed, speechless in horrified amazement, as her two subjects approached the gate. Gone were the picturesque gowns and the sunbonnets of faded blue. In their place the Kimballs had donned a veritable riot of modishness. Their costumes paid tribute to the varying fashions of a full half century.

But the faded countenances of the Kimballs showed naught but pride and satisfaction, slightly tinged with embarrassment. "We set up most all night sortin' things over and decidin' what to wear," announced Miss Phoebe when they came within speaking distance. "Of course we wanted to do you credit, seein' you were so kind. These silk mits cost a sight of money when Brother Hiram brought them from Concord. They're pretty well darned now, but all the mendin's on the inside where it don't show. Don't Marthy look scrumptious? She found that silk skirt she had made up for the Frost weddin' most as good as new."

Holbrook welcomed the old lady's volubility, for it was plain that for once his companion was at a loss for words. When Miss Binley finally found her voice it was so queer and strained that he scarcely recognized it: "I—I'm sorry you went to all the trouble. Really, it wasn't at all necessary. In fact—"

"In fact," broke in Holbrook hurriedly—"nevertheless it was awfully good of you to fix up so. That certainly is a fine piece of goods, Miss Marthy. It will show up splendidly in the photograph."

He rambled on thus, hardly realizing what he said, anxious only to cover the blither disappointment that was written on Miss Binley's face so clearly that he felt it must be evident to all.

"Twarn't the least bit of trouble," insisted Marthy. "We really enjoyed fixin' things over, didn't we, Phoebe?"

Holbrook was wondering how long his powers of invention would stand the strain when, after a brief and—to him—uncomfortable pause, Miss Marthy suggested timidly, "We're all ready, miss, any time you say."

To Holbrook's intense relief this appeal brought Miss Binley to a sense of the situation. "Oh, yes," she said, rather wildly, "your clothes are beautiful. I'm going to send you each a dozen prints so that you can have plenty to give your friends."

Declining a hospitable invitation to stop for a "snack and a cup of tea," the girl and the young man somehow got through their farewells and walked away over the hill, leaving the wearied but thoroughly delighted old ladies gazing after them from their station by the front gate. In silence Holbrook lugged the camera, and without a word Miss Binley trudged beside him until the old house and its grotesquely clad occupants were hidden by the bend in the road. Then the girl said:

"Would you mind sitting here in the shade a minute? I really believe I'm a bit tired."

Immediately the youth was all anxious inquiry and suggestion:

"It must have been the sun. You have to be careful in these mountains. If you don't mind waiting here alone for a couple of minutes I'll hurry back and see if the old ladies won't lend me some kind of a rig to drive you back to the hotel, or maybe you'll let me carry you back to their house."

"Don't be ridiculous," ordered Miss Binley, with a slightly hysterical laugh. "There isn't a thing the matter with me." Then, noting his amazement, she burst out desperately: "I'm just fearfully disappointed, that's all. I don't believe I ever was so disappointed before in my life. But that's only part. I'm horribly ashamed of myself, too—even more ashamed than disappointed. Oh, I believe I'm the meanest girl in the whole state of New Hampshire."

"Why—er—er—" he started to protest.

"Don't pretend you don't comprehend," she interrupted. "You're ashamed of me too. You know you are. No; let me finish," she insisted, when he made as if to deny. "The worst of all is that even now, when I understand how mean and selfish it is to feel so, I'm just overwhelmed with disappointment still. You can't understand—nobody could but an artist. My heart was set on a picture of those dear old things in their delicious working clothes. And when I saw how they had gone and spoiled everything I felt so badly I didn't even want to conceal it."

Holbrook gazed with awe and quickening heartbeat upon a new and holier divinity—with quivering lips and dewy lashes, irresistible in her sweet repentance. In another moment he was on his knees on the grass beside her. Without hesitation, naturally as if he had done it as often as he had dreamed of doing it, his arm slipped about her. Just as naturally her head somehow found a comfortable place on his shoulder. Her hat fell off, and he kissed her shining hair.

"I do understand," he whispered, although there was none but the mountains to listen. "I understand, dear. I may be an ignoramus about photography and art, but I'm mighty well acquainted with Tommy Holbrook, and I know he knows that you're the sweetest, most unselfish, most—What I want to say is that I want to make carrying your camera my life job," he concluded desperately.

Miss Binley sat suddenly erect. An answer hovered on her lips, but faded into a smile as she picked up a black leather covered object from the grass beside her and placed it in Holbrook's hands.

As Senator Shively upon the occasion of his visit to Seymour broke his rule by referring indirectly to the Kern bribery charge, so Mr. Bryan, during his visit here, might break his rule and speak a few words on the local option question, telling why he believes county option is so necessary for Nebraska, but shouldn't be mentioned in Indiana.

If elected Sheriff William Goecker could be counted on to discharge the duties of the office conscientiously and honestly. There would be no questions of his sincerity and earnestness in the pursuit of criminals or question as to his adherence to the law in the matter of charges and salary.

The election of William H. Peters and Joseph N. White as commissioners, would furnish a guarantee to the taxpayers that the already large appropriation for the court house improvement, would not be largely increased. They are known to stand for economy in county affairs.

The farmer's best market is the home market and the more men there are employed at good wages the better is the market. The revenue only tariff champion can make no claim that such a tariff law would aid in building up or sustaining any enterprise that would give employment to men at good wages.

The cost of living has advanced in the industrial countries of Europe as well as in America but thus far it has not been proved that Republican policies in the United States are responsible for the foreign advance.

And for that matter we have a democratic council, but up went the taxes. Just another illustration of democratic economy, you know.

As a rule Democratic economy is a rather expensive saving.

And Kern had nothing to say.

MADE THINGS PLAIN

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Oct. 15.—Now that Roosevelt has come and gone, Republicans feel they can say their campaign is going good. Senator Beveridge, the state candidates and the congressional aspirants, were pleased beyond measure by the turnout for Roosevelt, and by his speeches. Mr. Roosevelt spoke strongly for Senator Beveridge and the whole Republican ticket. It is conceded by Democrats and insisted by Republicans that the Roosevelt influence in the campaign is the one greatest asset in the Beveridge cause. Roosevelt made several things plain to Indiana voters.

In the first place he made it plain that Indiana people should be represented by honesty, ability and common sense. He made it plain that Senator Beveridge is honest, courageous, efficient and sensible. He gave specific instances of Beveridge achievement and conduct to prove his case. He showed that it took honesty, courage, efficiency and good judgment to write and put through the meat inspection law, and he gave Beveridge credit for leading that great fight. Col. Roosevelt impressed on the people of Indiana that they must keep the crook out of public life, and he doubly impressed the thought that the people must keep their best public servants in public life. While punishing the crook, Col. Roosevelt would recognize the honest servant. So he told Indiana voters it was their duty to continue Senator Beveridge on the job. Speaking frankly of Senator Beveridge's part in the tariff debates, Col. Roosevelt showed that Senator Beveridge had been in the lead, joining the bulk of the members of the Republican party, and that some Republicans had been obliged to hurry a little, recently in order to catch up with the progressive rank and file and with Beveridge.

Senator Beveridge was given credit by Col. Roosevelt for starting the movement for a tariff commission, and it was the colonel's prediction that by the next presidential election the Republican party will be a unit in favor of the commission plan, with Beveridge as guide in that great reform.

E. T. Shubrick, a Georgia Democrat, now a resident of Indianapolis, has come out for Beveridge and progressive Republicanism. Mr. Shubrick was a confederate soldier. He fought four years with Gordon. He says: "Senator Beveridge and Indiana Republicans are in a great, big fight for the right. I want to enlist for the war. I know what fighting means. I know something of the test of courage through which Senator Beveridge has passed in behalf of principle. I want to say I am for him and that I will do what I can to re-elect him. I am for good men in all parties. I might be for Hoke Smith in Georgia, where I came from. I am for Roosevelt, and here in Indiana, where I now live, I am glad to be for Senator Beveridge because he has been for me and for the people. I owe him something in return for his efficient and loyal work."

Down in the Second district Will Hays is stirring things politically with a busy stick. Just now Mr. Hays, the Republican district chairman in that live and stirring district, is sending out buttons to the voters. On the button are the words, "Before 10—Remember." With each button goes a card which informs the voter as to the meaning of the words. The rank and file is asked to vote before 10 o'clock, election day, and to see that ten others do the same thing. "Think what it means to the district," suggests Mr. Hays. The plan adopted by Mr. Hays and his district workers has caught on in great shape, and is the talk of other districts. It reminds Republicans of the "Ten O'clock Club" started in 1904 by Elam H. Neal, in the Eleventh district, when all six counties of the district went Republican, and when many precincts showed the full Republican poll to have been voted before four o'clock in the evening.

It has been the talk for weeks that the large work of the campaign is to get the full vote out. Republicans are confident that they will get out the vote, as their organization has been made with that end in view. The close organization plan, which has been developed to a science in Indiana, on an honest and decent basis, in the last dozen years, is at its best this year under the guidance of State Chairman E. M. Lee. Several new ideas have been developed by the 1910 committee, but the general plan is that which has made Indiana famous for close organization achievement.

Auto's Fatal Plunge.

Sterling, Ill., Oct. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Justus Jene's auto plunged through a fence and down an embankment seventy-five feet high into a creek near Tiskilwa. Both were probably fatally injured.

Costly Blaze in Mexico.

The Gold Mine Department Store

Annual Showing of Fall Styles

Every section of this store is now showing complete lines of Fall merchandise.

The correct things for Fall and Winter can now be decided upon definitely.

All stocks are now at their best. There is economy in buying at this store that in conjunction, operates five large stores, that knows the value of merchandise, that has stood the test for twenty-five years, without giving away chances on premiums to entice the purchaser in gambling.

This is no 'Flight in the middle of [night.]' Store, that is here today and some where else tomorrow, but expects to meet you for years to come.

Promises can easily be made and when you are gone no one to right them.

Premiums to sell merchandise with but one to win and hundreds to lose, only creates heartaches and headaches for the loser and gains very little for the winner.

At the age of modern merchandizing, when the public is able to conspire and combine their efforts, what chance has the ordinary innocent purchaser.

Our stock of Domestic, Woolens, Comforts and Blankets, Dress Goods and Silks, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Rugs, Linoleums, and Oilcloth, Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves, Ready-to-wear Garments, Coats, Skirts, and Waists, Tailored Suits and Sweater Coats, Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hats are all of The Gold Mine type, new and up-to-date and require no premium to the purchaser.

A visit in our store will convince you that our stock is modern in every respect and our merchandise is reliable.

Our store will be closed Wednesday evening at 6 p. m. and until Thursday evening 6 p. m. on account of holiday.

NEW CORSET MODELS ARE HERE

We have just received the new models of

Thomson's "Glove Fitting" Corsets

They are designed to give that long, slim, lightsome appearance to the waist and to reduce the size of the hips very materially. This is accomplished by the unusual tailoring of the corset.

Stout women especially will realize the importance of these features. Reduction is accomplished by the tailoring and not by the strappings and accessories used on the patented "reducers."

There is a model for every figure be it stout or slender.

MOVE TO SAVE
BOTTOM LANDSBig Levee to Be Built Along
Wabash and Patoka.

SURVEYS ARE NOW BEING MADE

Proposed Levee Contemplates Course
About Eighty Miles in Length and Looks to the Preservation From Constantly Recurring Floods of 125,000 Acres of Fine Bottom Lands in the Counties of Gibson and Posey.Princeton, Ind., Oct. 14.—Engineer
Harry N. Pharr of Memphis, Tenn., and his assistants are here to make a survey for the proposed levee along the Patoka and Wabash rivers. According to the present plans the levee is to extend from a point near Dongola, north of Oakland City, on both sides of the Patoka river to its mouth near East Mt. Carmel, Ind., thence south along the Wabash to New Harmony, the entire extent being close to eighty miles. It is estimated that 125-000 acres of fine bottom land in Gibson and Posey counties will be affected.
The estimated cost of the levee is $250,000.The improvement was petitioned for by scores of land owners. The project is the largest of its kind ever undertaken in this part of the state. It has met with some opposition from people whose land would be affected, but the promoters hope that this will disappear when the land owners understand the great benefit to be derived from the improvement.

SURGERY AND LAW

Interesting Experiment in Trepanning
to Be Performed at Indianapolis.Indianapolis, Oct. 14.—An operation may be attempted to save Walter Gas-tetter, twenty-four years old, from criminal tendencies, as a result of a police court investigation ordered by Judge Collins. Gastetter, who is a cook by trade, is held in police court under a charge of larceny as a result of the theft of twenty-seven canary birds from the home of Mrs. Rheana Bell.After an examination Judge Collins called the attention of Dr. John Kol-mer to the case and the latter now says that investigation shows an injury to Gastetter's skull in childhood from a streetcar accident. There is a depression the size of a silver dollar on the left side of the young man's head over the ear. His parents assert that kleptomania developed in the young man when he was a child and after the injury. They say there is no ground for believing this is a result of heredity.The question as to the proposed operation has not been definitely decided as yet, but probably will be within a day or two. In the meantime Judge Collins is withholding judgment
in the case.

SPORTING BLOOD WAS UP

Hartsville Man in Jail For Offering Wager on Game of Checkers.Columbus, Ind., Oct. 14.—A game of checkers got Robert Blair, aged thirty, of Hartsville, in jail. Blair was watching a spirited game between two men in a Hartsville blacksmith shop, when he became so partisan that he offered to wager 50 cents his favorite would win. The town marshal was standing near and warned Blair that betting as much as 50 cents was gambling.
Blair's sporting blood was up, however, and he continued to hold the offer of a 50-cent wager open.The Hartsville marshal arrested him and took him before Justice of the Peace Carr, where Blair entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5 and costs.
He had no money but the 50 cents,
and came here to remain in jail for fifteen days.

Harvest From the Flood.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 14.—The people of Utica, eight miles up the river from Jeffersonville, are reaping their corn harvest, but it is the harvest that comes down the Ohio and not what they find in the rich bottom lands of Utica township. One fisherman brought fifty bushels of corn ashore and another forty, and much other property is being brought down on account of the sudden rise in the river and its tributaries caused by the heavy rains of last week.

D. A. R. Close Session.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 14.—The Daughters of the American Revolution closed
a very successful conference here.
The meeting next year will be held in Indianapolis. The following officers were elected: Regent, Mrs. J. L. Din-widdle of Fowler; vice regent, Mrs.
William C. Ball of Muncie; state secretary, Mrs. Henry A. Beck, Indianapolis; treasurer, Mrs. Otto G. Rott.

Fatal Interurban Wreck.

Connersville, Ind., Oct. 14.—A head-on collision between two interurban cars near Osage station, three miles west of this city. Carl Hunt of Rushville, motorman on the freight, was instantly killed; Harry Dawson, motorman on the local, jumped and suffered a broken leg. Both conductors jumped safely. The four men were the only people aboard the cars.

MAJOR GENERAL BARRY.

New Superintendent of United States Military Academy.TROUBLE IN STORE
FOR SUGAR TRUSTDepartment of Justice Working On New Lead.Washington, Oct. 14.—Frank L. Garbarine, special agent of the department of justice, has submitted a report to Assistant Attorney General Dennison on investigations he has made into alleged frauds in the matter of sampling sugar at the custom house in New Orleans. Last April Assistant Attorney General Dennison, who was formerly associated with United States Attorney Stimson in the prosecution of the sugar frauds at the New York custom house, went to New Orleans under the direction of the attorney general to investigate alleged frauds.
He took with him H. H. Walters, an expert from the New York custom house, who aided the government in developing the frauds by false weights that were brought to light in New York. They spent two weeks looking into the subject of alleged false weights, and at the end of that time had not acquired sufficient evidence to make out a case of false weighing.
But the investigation did disclose evidences of frauds in the test. Mr. Dennison returned and sent Frank L. Garbarine to New Orleans as a special agent from the department and an expert in sampling. He has made an exhaustive investigation and submitted his written report. Assistant Attorney General Dennison talked over the case with the attorney general, and it is likely that the evidence collected will be laid before the federal grand jury for such action as may be warranted.
The officers of the department of justice are naturally averse to discussing the matter. They will not say there is sufficient evidence to warrant them in concluding that they can convict anybody, but there is reason to believe that the information obtained by Special Agent Garbarine is of such a serious character as to make it reasonably certain that some prominent men connected with the sugar trust will have a close call if they escape indictment.

CAUGHT IN FLAMES

Eight Lives Lost in an Apartment House Blaze at Montreal.Montreal, Oct. 14.—As the result of a fire which destroyed the Kings Hall building, a large business block on St.
Catherine street, eight lives were lost and a loss of over $100,000 entailed.
The building was a five-story structure in the heart of the up-town business district. The ground floor was occupied by stores and the other floors were taken up by a concert hall, a billiard parlor and sleeping apartments. Thirteen people, including the caretaker, slept in the building. The fire broke out about 2 a. m. Some of the occupants managed to escape, but others were overcome by the smoke and carried down with the ruins of the building, which is a total wreck.

CHARMED LIFE

Steeple-Jack Fell Seventy Feet at Hammond and Was Unharmed.Hammond, Ind., Oct. 14.—John Howland of Hoopesport, Ill., fell seventy feet from the roof of the Hammond superior court house recently and was killed. Yesterday Cecil Jack of St.
Louis, a tile worker, fell the same distance, alighted on pile of tile, broke seventeen of them into small pieces and picked himself up before the astonished spectators and workmen. He even rebuked his fellow-workmen for stopping work to rush to his aid, and ordered them to "get back to the job."
Cecil, who is a steeple-jack, went back to work in the afternoon on a high turret, where he is acting as foreman of a roofing gang.

Killed by His Own Gun.

Martinsville, Ind., Oct. 14.—David Martin Kennedy, aged thirty-nine, of Ashland township, was found dead in a potato patch on his farm. Kennedy went to the patch to burn some weeds, taking his rifle to kill rabbits. His body was found about three hours later by two of his children. Coroner Bradley said that death was due to accidental shooting. Kennedy evidently discharged the rifle as he was attempting to climb a fence.Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bull's Eye.This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several well known kidney medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent. better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." A. J. Pellens.

A Snoring Child.

Snoring is a symptom that should not be neglected in children. It shows that there is some obstruction to the free passage of air from the nose to the throat. The tonsils may be enlarged and so partially close the passage at its lower opening. There may be a polypus or some small tumor in the nasal passage itself or catarrh of the throat or nose or both. A physician should be consulted.

More Than Enough is Too Much.

To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys.
If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver
Tablets and you will soon be all right

Tough Cases Cost More.

"Salvation seems to be mighty costly

it is to save others."

COLONEL W. H. BIXBY.

United States Army Officer
to Raise Battleship Maine.PRESIDENT DECIDES ON TRIP TO PANAMAHe Will Depart Two Days After The Election.Beverly, Mass., Oct. 14.—Congressmen will be called upon this winter to pass important legislation for the Panama canal. President Taft considers the propositions which he will recommend in his coming message of so much importance that he has reversed his idea not to go to the isthmus this fall, and will leave on the trip Nov. 10, two days after the election. The president expects to be out of the country about eleven days, spending two or three days on the isthmus.The president's decision to go to Panama was made after a conference here with Colonel G. W. Goethals, the army engineer in charge of the construction of the canal. Colonel Goethals was eager to have the president make the trip, and Mr. Taft was greatly impressed by his arguments. Colonel Goethals again assured Mr. Taft that the canal will be ready for the formal opening by Jan. 1, 1915, at the latest, and he added, without making any definite prediction, that it was possible that the great work would be finished earlier.The president is going to Panama this time intending to take up the problems that will face this government after the opening of the canal to the ships of the world, and it is in regard to some of these problems that congress will be called on to legislate this winter. The president will go to Cincinnati to vote and probably will leave Washington on the following day for Charleston. The president's trip to Panama will be the second time that he has been out of the country, the first being at his meeting with President Diaz in Mexico. President Taft's political advisers have argued against the trip, but the president has decided that the interests at stake in the isthmus outweigh any political considerations.

Miss Ruth Kamman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kamman, who has been critically ill with typhoid fever for several days, is improving.

Jerry McOsker was here from Brownstown this morning, having returned Charles Mitchell who escaped from the police Friday afternoon.

G. M. Walrod of Indianapolis, who is organizing a Moose lodge at Columbus, was in Seymour today. A public meeting will be held in the Hancock hall here next Thursday night to further the work of organizing a lodge here.

The Gold Mine Department Store of this city opened its branch store at Brownstown this morning. Preparations for the opening were made the past two weeks, the store having been moved to the Pfifer building. The Gold Mine has had a store at that place for some time, but will now conduct it along a larger scale.

Hereafter the night policemen will give special attention to see that proper signals lights are placed on obstructions which may be in the street. There is an ordinance which provides that such lights shall be placed upon the obstructions, with a penalty for failure to do so. During the past summer, several contractors in moving houses have occupied the streets with timbers and tools, but failed to remove them in reasonable time.

Mrs. Harder, a sister of Mrs. Robert Ferenburg, who lives three miles south of Elizabethtown, was brought to this city in an automobile yesterday and a physician was called to attend her. She was very ill and after getting temporary relief here, was taken on to the home of her sister. She went to Colorado from Scipio a few years ago for the benefit of her health, but was not improved, and started home with her family in a covered wagon. She became so ill at Franklin, after being on the road from Colorado for two months, that an automobile was secured to take her the rest of the way. A physician from Elizabethtown was called to see her last night, and she is said to be in a critical condition.—Columbus Republican.

Life Not Worth Living

is the way Miss Alta Abel, of West Baden, Ind., summed up her existence after having sought in vain for health. She writes, "I was a complete wreck—always tired, worn out and nervous. I had to spend about one-third of my time in bed, and my life was not worth living.

Vinol, your delicious cod liver and iron tonic, was recommended, and I can truly say it has done me more good than all the medicine I ever took in my life. That nervous and tired feeling is all gone. I have gained in health, flesh and strength, until I feel like another person." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

What Vinol did for Miss Abel, we know it will do for every nervous, run-down, overworked, tired, thin and discouraged woman in this vicinity.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

ACTION IN THE
ALASKAN CASES

Alleged Land Looters Indicted
By Government.

BILLS RETURNED AT SEATTLE

Following Secretary Ballinger's Return to Washington It Is Given Out That Indictments Have Been Found Against Members of Stracey Group and of Christopher-Simmonds Group, Charging Illegal Acquisition of Land.

Washington, Oct. 15.—After long months of inquiring on the part of officials working under the direction of R. A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, the government has secured indictments against men who are charged with conspiracy to defraud in connection with valuable coal lands in Alaska. The indictments were returned by the federal grand jury sitting at Seattle. Announcement to this effect has just been made at the department following the return of Mr. Ballinger to Washington. The men indicted are C. F. Munday, A. H. Stracey, Archie Shields and E. E. Seigler, who are identified with what is known as the English or Stracey group; also Cornelius Christopher, George Simmonds and Mortimer Sweeney, all of whom have been active with the Christopher-Simmonds group, which has been diligent in its efforts to acquire coal lands in Alaska. Munday lives in Seattle. He is a lawyer of prominence and a man of considerable wealth. Stracey is a Canadian. He makes his headquarters in British Columbia, and has been in the Alaskan field for a long time. The men named are charged with violations of the law that prohibits the acquisition of public lands through the medium of "dummy entrymen."

It was set out in the evidence submitted to the grand jury that the men against whom indictments were sought had induced certain persons to make entry with the agreements that their interests would be turned over to the respective groups immediately on the issuance of patents by the secretary of the interior.

HOME AGAIN

The Colonel Taking a Little Rest at Sagamore Hill.

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 15.—New York state will disobey Theodore Roosevelt if it fails to elect the ticket that was nominated at Saratoga. As he fought for Beveridge in Indiana Thursday, so did the colonel fight in New York yesterday. He made an assault upon the Democratic party of this state. He said that the big issue that the Republicans have to fight is the alliance between crooked politics and crooked business. To be plain, Tammany Hall and Wall street.

Mr. Roosevelt opened the campaign for his ticket with a bang. From his first speech at Dunkirk until the wind-up in Elmira last night the colonel kept up a running fire of attack upon Murphy, Tammany Hall, Wall street, the New York newspapers and the interests which he declares are affiliated with them.

The colonel arrived in Jersey City at 8:15 this morning. There was a conference in his office, and then the colonel hiked for Sagamore Hill, where he hopes to secure a rest of forty-eight hours. The trip is over.

Auto Dashed Into Trolley Car.

East Liverpool, O., Oct. 15.—Four men were instantly killed and an auto was wrecked when an express car on the Stark electric road rounded a sharp curve at a crossing near Beloit while speeding thirty miles an hour and struck the auto.

The dead: Charles J. Albright, general manager; John Derby, salesman; George Frederick, manager, and Joseph Snediker, all of the Limoges China company of Sebring. Near Beloit, Albright, driving the car, rounded a sharp curve at the same time the express car speeded along and struck the automobile full force.

He Ducked the Storm.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The notorious Pataud, secretary of the electrician's union, who is held to be responsible for the strike of electricians, has disappeared, and the warrant issued for his arrest cannot be served.

The TRIUMPH Air Blast

Is the latest and greatest invention for producing heat from soft coal. Practically all fuel can be turned into heat and utilized in the room—no waste of gases, no waste of soot, no waste by having ashes banked against the fire pot. When we say we can save you one-third of your fuel bill is putting it mildly. The construction of the fire pot is so arranged that its radiation surface is double that of any other soft coal stove made. It is the only fire pot where it is absolutely impossible for ashes to bank against; the only fire pot where hot air has a complete circulation from top to bottom. The perfect fitting ash pit door, the ball bearing grate, the solid cast body are all features worth your while to consider in buying a stove. We will be glad to demonstrate the construction of the Triumph Air Blast and prove up what we say.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
